Search...

© 2015 ASLA-NCC all rights reserved.

Awards

2014 Awards

Design: Residential Single Family

Honor Award

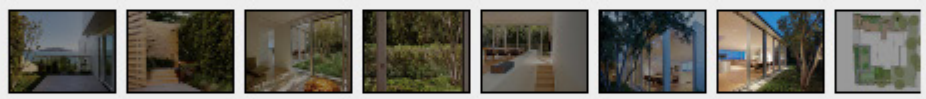
Hillside Residence

Sausalito, CA

Scott Lewis Landscape Architecture

Principal: Scott R. Lewis

Project Manager: Ryan Steer



Perched high upon a steep hill, this contemporary home takes advantage of diverse views while maximizing every square foot of its sharply sloping site. An expansive eastern panorama of the brilliant San Francisco Bay contrasts with an intimate shade garden to the west that provides year-round color and texture. To the north, a series of integrated decks is carefully placed to have the least impact on hillside conditions and to manage storm water runoff. On these terraces, drought-tolerant Mediterranean plantings help define circulation and establish privacy. The south hillside is planted entirely with low-maintenance California natives, compatible with existing Oak trees. Throughout the outdoor spaces, the strong horizontal design of the Alaskan Yellow Cedar fence, walls and decks complements the refined building architecture. At the top of this challenging hillside site, the street-side fence utilizes a simple pattern of rectilinear openings and curling vines for a striking look.

Design: Graduate Student Awards

Award of Excellence: 22nd Street Missing Link: Choreographing the Urban Watershed

Merit Award: The Dilating Line

Design: Historic Preservation

Honor Award: Foothill College

Research, Planning, Analysis and Communication

Honor Award: Iron Horse

Honor Award: San Jose State University Landscape Master Plan

Design: Residential High Denisty Mixed Use 2014

Merit Award: Sun City Yokohama

Merit Award: University of California Davis West Village

Design: Commercial and Institutional

Honor Award: VA Palo Alto Medical Center Mental Health Clinic

Merit Award: Weill Lawn and Commons at Green Music Center

Merit Award: John Lo Schiavo, S.J. Center for Science & Innovation at University of San Francisco

Merit Award: Therapy Landscape for the Rehabilitation Center at El Camino Hospital

Merit Award: Airbnb Headquarters

Design: Single Family Residential

Honor Award: Napa Vineyard Retreat

Merit Award: Portola Valley Residence

Honor Award: Hillside Residence

Design: Parks, Recreation, Trails and Open Space

Merit Award: Lake Merritt Park: Downtown and Neighborhood Edges